

6th Latinx Philosophy Conference

March 25-26

Online (organized by Temple University)

INFORMATION FOR ATTENDEES

All 8 sessions and the 2 keynotes will take place on Zoom. See the conference program below for the Zoom link and password for each day.

During time slots assigned for lunch breaks and online hangouts, we will meet via a virtual space platform called Wonder. This platform works directly from your preferred browser (e.g., Firefox, Chrome) and requires no downloads. This is the link for the conference Wonder space. When you first open it, you will be asked to set up your microphone and camera, and create an avatar. After this, you will be able to join a conversation with other individuals or groups in the space by dragging your avatar close to them. Our conference Wonder space is already open, so you can do your first-time setup at your convenience ahead of the conference.

If you encounter any technical difficulties, feel free to e-mail us at latinxphilosophyconference@gmail.com.

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

All times listed are in Eastern Time.

Friday, March 25 (Zoom link, passcode: 283125)

Conference Welcome (9:45 – 10:15)

Session 1 (10:15 – 11:25)

“The Oppressed Do Not Have a Duty to Resist”

Victor F. Abundez-Guerra, PhD Candidate (University of California, Riverside)

Comments by Ezekiel Vergara, Research Associate (Yale University)

Session 2 (11:30 – 12:40)

“Levels of Analysis within Intersectionality: Connecting Micro and Macro”

Annette Martín, Post-Doc (University of Illinois Chicago)

Comments by Vincent del Prado, PhD Candidate (University of Cincinnati)

Lunch Break ET and CT (12:45 – 13:45)

Join informal conversations with other conference participants in our Wonder space!

Session 3 (13:45 – 14:55)

“Grounding Prison Abolition: Racism as a Homeostatic System”

César Valenzuela, PhD Candidate (Stanford University)

Comments by Samuel Maia, Graduate Student (Federal University of Minas Gerais)

Session 4 (15:00 – 16:10)

“Commitment Normativism: A Novel Normativist Approach to the Nature of Belief”

Aliosha Barranco Lopez, Post-Doc (Bowdoin College)

Comments by Bertín Ortega-Polito, PhD candidate (University of Illinois Chicago)

Lunch Break PT (16:15 – 17:00)

Join informal conversations with other conference participants in our Wonder space!

First Keynote (17:00 – 18:30)

“On Coloniality: A View from the Caribbean”

Rocío Zambrana, Associate Professor (Emory University)

Online Hangout (18:30 – 19:30)

Join informal conversations with other conference participants in our Wonder space!

Saturday, March 26 (Zoom link, passcode: 626877)

Online Hangout (9:45 – 10:15)

Join informal conversations with other conference participants in our Wonder space!

Session 5 (10:15 – 11:25)

“Ideology as Unconscious Defense”

Lucas Ballestín, PhD Candidate (The New School)

Comments by Jennifer Yusin, Associate Professor (Drexel University)

Session 6 (11:30 – 12:40)

“Hugo Chávez, El Pueblo, and Mutually Protagonistic Democracy: Political Theory and the Bolivarian Revolution”

Gabriel Vergara, PhD candidate (UMass Amherst)

Comments by Ariana Peruzzi, PhD candidate (University of Michigan)

Lunch Break ET and CT (12:45 – 13:45)

Join informal conversations with other conference participants in our Wonder space!

Session 7 (13:45 – 14:55)

“Afro-Latinidad in an Anticolonial Key as Crucial for an Account of Latinidad in The U.S.”

Adam Burgos, Assistant Professor (Bucknell University) and Alejandro Arango, Lecturer (Gonzaga University)

Comments by Eric Bayruns García, Assistant Professor (CSU San Bernardino)

Session 8 (15:00 – 16:10)

“María Lugones and the (De)coloniality of Space”

Cynthia Marrero-Ramos, PhD candidate (Penn State University)

Comments by Paula Landerreche Cardillo, PhD candidate (DePaul University)

Lunch Break PT (16:15 – 17:00)

Join informal conversations with other conference participants in our Wonder space!

Second Keynote (17:00 – 18:30)

“Flower and Song: Did Nahua thought influence Sor Juana?”

Sofía Ortiz-Hinojosa, Assistant Professor (Vassar College)

Online Hangout (18:30 – 19:30)

Join informal conversations with other conference participants in our Wonder space!